

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Benefits for the Athletically Involved

Famous Tekes in Sports

Terry Bradshaw
Former Pro Football Player
& Current Football Analyst

Roy Jones, Jr.
Professional Boxer

George Halas
NFL Founder

Marv Levy
Former Coach & Current
President of the Buffalo
Bills

Richard "Digger" Phelps
Basketball Analyst &
Former Notre Dame
Basketball Coach

Phil Simms
Former Pro Football Player
& Current Football Analyst

Paul "Big Show" Wight
WWE Wrestler

Many high school athletes who choose not to participate in collegiate athletics have filled the void by becoming involved in TKE and applying their leadership skills and work ethic to their chapter, the classroom, and to bettering their communities.

- For those currently involved in Collegiate Athletics, TKE provides the opportunity to develop yourself off the field and outside the classroom, without requiring you to take your focus away from athletics or academics.
- Tau Kappa Epsilon offers a team setting which allows an athlete to transfer his leadership skills from the athletic field into their chapter, campus and community.
- TKE makes it easy to gather teammates for intramurals and fellow fans to attend campus athletic events.
- With more than 270 chapters across North America, there are many TKE chapters to visit when on the road traveling to games as a spectator.
- The TEKE Magazine recognizes athletes for the entire TKE Nation to applaud.